

THE OPERATIONAL
RESEARCH
SOCIETY

Corporate Partnership 2022

Scheme details, benefits and prices

How does The OR Society's Corporate Partnership work?

You become the main contact person for Corporate Partnership and your chosen colleagues become corporate affiliates of The OR Society, with access to a range of benefits. As the main contact person, you receive our printed publications to share within your organisation. You and everyone you nominate may access our members-only areas of our website, read our publications online, and receive all of our other notifications electronically.

Corporate Partner Benefits

Take advantage of these discounts:

- Training days at full member rates, with the option for them to be run onsite at your offices (saving £50 per training day)
- Conference places at member rates (typically saving £100 per delegate)
- 50% off exhibitor places at any ORS one-day event, with advertising support across numerous platforms
- £30 discount for corporate affiliates who wish to retain, or gain, full membership

Corporate affiliate benefits:

- Access to the members' area of The OR Society website including all of our publications and document repository
- Direct electronic communications about The OR Society's events and endeavours
- Accreditation schemes: Corporate affiliates may apply for CandORS
- Main corporate partner contact to receive one printed copy of all publications:
 - Journal of the Operational Research Society (JORS), published 12 times a year
 - European Journal of Information Systems (EJIS), published 6 times a year
 - Knowledge Management Research & Practice (KMRP) published 4 times a year
 - Journal of Simulation (JOS), published 4 times a year
 - Health Systems (HS), published 4 times a year
 - Journal of Business Analytics (JBA), published 2 times a year
 - Inside OR, published 12 times a year
 - Impact, published 2 times a year

Publicity and engagement:

- Get interviewed by our in-house journalist and have an article featured in our membership magazine about your services, products or case studies.
- Enjoy half-off advertising in our public-facing publication, Impact.
- Let us write about your job, education and experience to add to our careers profile library, presented to school and university students to support an OR pipeline of talent.
- Participate in a range of volunteer opportunities that are in line with your organisation's social responsibility scheme.

- Become an exhibitor or sponsor of one of our events at a discounted rate, with advertising support featuring your organisation in mainstream external outlets, direct email, social media, on our website and in our mobile app.
- Speak at or host a workshop at one of our annual events.

Corporate Partnership Terms and Conditions

- Corporate partners will assign a main contact to liaise with The OR Society. The main contact is required to update The OR Society each quarter with a current list of corporate affiliates.
- Corporate partners are able to request for an OR Society training course to be run in-house. Training will take place once numbers and finance are approved by The OR Society and at the acceptance of the course leader.
- Corporate affiliates have access to all publications online but the organisation receives only one hard copy of each publication.
- Corporate affiliates do not have voting rights within The OR Society.
- Corporate affiliates are able to apply for CandORS accreditation. Full membership is required for all other accreditations.
- Corporate affiliates who wish to retain, or gain, full membership are entitled to a £30 discount, and will receive all services offered to full members (maximum of 15 discounted full members per organisation).
- The annual fee of £1,000 is for up to 50 corporate affiliates. Organisations are able to add more affiliates to their partnership at an extra cost of £200 per 10 affiliates.
- Corporate partners will receive an annual invoice.

For more information contact:

Rob Wallace
Senior Membership Administrator

+44 (0) 121 234 7812

rob.wallace@theorsociety.com